

FCC Commissioners
The Federal Communications Commission RE: Docket 04-435
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Dear FCC Commissioners ,

I am writing to voice my concerns about the FCC's proposal to relax the restrictions on the use of cell phones on airplanes in flight.

There is no hard evidence that cell phone use doesn't interfere with navigational instruments. The introduction of cell phone use in the cabin will not only increase tension among passengers, it will compromise flight attendants' ability to maintain order in an emergency. Cell phone use could also enable terrorists to coordinate a plan of action more effectively. Not only that, but I do not care to be a "captive audience" for some rude person who won't let us rest in quiet, hear the movie, or quietly talk with my seat mates. I do NOT want to hear another's conversation! It's bad enough they inflict themselves on us in restaurants. It's rude and disruptive, and in close quarters might even cause tempers to flare a little. We don't need it! Surely they can wait until they get to the terminal to talk!

Please leave the current rules in effect.

Sincerely,

Barbara Spradlin
